Greetings, MAMers!

Every now and then I drop back to misc.activism.militia just to see if elitist-collectivist toads like Sheldon ("The gelded Canuck") Sheps and Herr Professor Heidegger-Pitcavage, the government lickspittle, have got real lives yet. To my perfect expectation, I see that not only have they not, but their lying evasions and quarter-truths are more obvious and sordid with the passage of time. From the safety of their blue-screen-comfort, they engage in neo-McCarthyism with cowardly abandon. They will not see the victims they finger to an ever-more-encroaching federal police establishment. They could not care less. They are liberal elitists, with elitist tunnel vision. The dead victims, as at Waco, they will justify as having brought it on themselves.

Pitcavage IS a list-maker, have no doubt. Previous posts could be produced to prove that very point. What is his "Watchdog Page" but a glorified list? Pitcavage just counts on the poor collective memory of the militia posters to this board to escape conviction. Few true militia folk stay here for long. It's just a waste of time and resources to deal with such lying turds who ignore facts and reality. They are here to provoke a response to their rantings, and note the addresses the responses come from. Pitcavage is a troller for militia names, period.

Honest liberals (and there are more than you think) are increasingly upset at the Clinton record on civil liberties and constitutional government. They recognize, as do we, that Clinton has the worst civil liberties record of any 20th century American president (see recent Anthony Lewis column in NYT). It was liberal film-makers (for the most part) who made Waco: The Rules of Engagement. It was liberal film reviewers who gave the film its first rave reviews. It was liberal film-goers who packed the houses, and openly wept, when the film first made the rounds of places like San Francisco.

This is why you should not mistake Pitcavage, Sheps, Son of ATF (now there's a name to be proud of!) and the rest of the collectivist and governmental mass murder apologists who infest this board for actual principled liberals. Honest Liberals remember Cointelpro and wince when they consider that while today's government victim-du-jour is a conservative gun owner, tax protestor or militiaman, it could easily be themselves tomorrow. I screened the Waco film for just such an honest liberal the other day. His comment, after he recovered his composure, was said so softly I could barely hear it: "And I thought you militia guys were paranoid about this (the government's actions at Waco)". He hesitated, and then finished with a sigh: "You were right all along. I still don't agree with you, but you were right."

I propose that Sheps, Pitcavage, "Son of Assassins, Traitors and Firebugs", etc. each be provided with a tape copy of the Waco film. The director's cut is best, but either will do. Let each of them watch the film, and then review it here on MAM.

Let them defend the government's conduct in a mass murder just as heinous as the Nazi massacre of Czech civilians at Lidice. If they can watch the film and still defend the administration without puking, they will have revealed their moral and intellectual bankruptcy for all to see.

Waco: The Rules of Engagement is a cinematic "Uncle Tom's Cabin" with the added advantage of being documentary rather than fiction. It will expose the rotten collectivist sadism of this administration for all to see. No one who sees it will ever consider current events in quite the same way. It may spur the spineless/brainless party of political lemmings who call themselves "Republicans" to true reform. Failing that, it will presage civil war. Let all who can stomach it, see this film. It will help you define for yourself what kind of American you are, and what kind of America you want your kids to grow up in.

Let Sheps, Pitcavage et al, define themselves as well. In the words of the old union organizing song: "They say in Harlan County, there are no neutrals there. You'll either be a union man, or a thug for J.H. Blair. Which side are you on, boys? Which side are you on? Tell me, which side are you on boys? Which side are you on?" If Pitcavage and Co. defend the murdering thugs of the Clinton Administration after viewing this film, we will know which side they are on.

"Who Guards the Guardians?" A refrain heard since at least the latter days of the Roman Republic. The founders of our Republic had an answer to that vital question: the armed citizenry-- the militia. It is time once again to guard the guardians, lest they steal our birthright.
